Add new simile: As complicated as an Earl Derr Biggers mystery story.

Some things noticed about town the other day:

Clark Eager in the front window of Alberts... wearing wool lined carpet slippers... two sizes too big.

Bill Crangle... the cop... looking as good natured as usual... escorting school children across the street at Ninth street and Macdonald avenue.

Police Sergeant Charlie Mahnke, with a whistle in his mouth... directing traffic at Twenty-third street and Macdonald avenue.

Johnnie Regello entering the Twenty-third street branch bank... looking solemn for some reason or other.

Lawrence Kratzer driving one of the new Buick eights.

Police Captain L. E. Jones and his Chrysler sedan.

Speaking of tall men... how about E. J. Lambrecht of the local Masonic lodge.

P. M. Sanford driving his Buick coupe... or is it a sedan?

A new Neon sign on Macdonald avenue... blue and white.

V. G. Blake demonstrating a new washing machine to a lady customer.

Cliff Anglim walking down the street with someone or other.

Constable J. W. Smiley, with his coat pockets full of papers.

Ed McLaughlin, city electrical inspector, inspects a fuse box in an apartment house. He makes mysterious signs in his note book.

Ed Dale, secretary of the Elks club, passes down the street in a hurry.

Jack Barry in the red roadster with the lights.

Lad Johnson serving out gasoline at service station.

Why can't all service station men be as obliging as they are in Richmond.

W. W. Scott in his grey Hudson with the red wheels.

Theodore Madison and his red car... "Keep off my lawn"... wonder how many high school boys have heard Ted say those words?

The poundmaster with his white, wooly dog... sadly in need of a bath.

Two women standing on a street corner, telling of the troubles their children are experiencing at school.

Two high school boys in cords... "We ought to be able to beat University"...

That sign on A. C. Coster's station... the oil sign that swings around in the breeze.

Emmett Hitchcock in the window of Clint Smith's store... decorating a dummy with a shirt and tie.

Dr. L. A. Hedges looking thoughtful as he enters the Abbott Emergency hospital.

Flat wheeled street cars... painted green and white.

BERKELEY, Sept. 5.—Climbing to the top railing of a San Francisco bound ferry five minutes out from Berkeley, C. A. Lavensaler, 54, Oakland stockbroker, residing at 1100 Ashmount avenue, today committed suicide by firing a bullet through his head.

Evidently intending that his body should fall into the bay, Lavensaler had filled his pockets with heavy weights and hung other weights about his body. His plan failed however, and he fell back onto the deck of the ferry boat, the Golden Gate Steamer "Golden Age."

A note found on his body directed police to notify his son.

Wife's Suitor Held In Death Of Mate

OAKLAND, Sept. 5.—E. J. Rock, automobile mechanic, admittedly stabbed by Byron James Woods, 22, an alleged admirer of Rock's wife, died this morning from dagger wounds in his abdomen.

Police inspectors and Deputy District Attorney George Perkins immediately went into a conference seeking a joint warrant charging Mrs. Rock and Woods with murder.

According to police reports, the fatal thrusts were delivered during a fight at Mrs. Rock's home, 1144 Twelfth street Wednesday night, after Rock, who has been separated from his wife two weeks, trapped her in Woods' company.

In a dying statement Rock told police the fight lasted 45 minutes. "I tried to get out after Woods stabbed me, to get help, but my wife stood in the doorway and pushed me back," Rock told authorities. "I was too weak to overcome her," he said.

Because of alleged discrepancies in her story, Mrs. Rock was taken into custody when she appeared at the police department last night to tell her version of the affair.

At first Mrs. Rock told police she had not seen the fight because she was in another room getting their three children ready to flee. Later however, she said Rock was infuriated at finding her with Woods and picked up a flatiron with the apparent intention of beating her with it. She admitted then she had witnessed the death struggle.

Coast Search In Hunt For Bandit

OAKLAND, Sept. 5.—Search for the bandit who yesterday robbed the Market and Fifteenth street branch of the American Trust company of $600, has spread along the entire coast, as Oakland police today were baffled in their efforts to obtain a clue to the robber.

As near a complete description of the bandit as was possible was broadcast along the coast line today.

Police advanced the theory that the robbery was committed by "local talent" and residents of the banking district were quizzed thoroughly today in the hopes of obtaining a complete description of the bandit and his car.

The unidentified robber appeared at the window yesterday and handed V. M. Pike, assistant manager, a note, asking for the money, and produced a revolver which he leveled on the official.

PRESIDENT TO GREET FLIERS

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 5.—UP—Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte landed their scarlet Sesqui plane Question Mark at Louisville airport tonight, enroute east to receive the plaudits of President Hoover for their epochal westward flight across the Atlantic.

The two Frenchmen decided to land here over night to break their return journey from Dallas, Texas, where they flew last night from New York to win $25,000 offered for the first one-stop Paris-Dallas flight.

Mayor William B. Harrison and an impressive crowd of officials, brass bands and citizens welcomed the intrepid aviators when they dipped to earth at 6:44 p. m. CST.

Coste and Bellonte looked tired and in need of sleep. The welcomers were sympathetic, even if anxious to show how well Louisville can entertain its distinguished visitors.

So the fliers were placed in an open automobile and paraded to a downtown hotel where their hosts promised they might go to bed early, almost for the first time since they arrived in the United States.

Victim Of Amnesia Is Hunted In Hills

BERKELEY, Sept. 5.—Despite search by all available police and volunteer posses throughout the Berkeley hills, Edmund J. Hodel, young Berkeley attorney and a recent amnesia victim had not been found tonight.

His wife, Mrs. Isobel Hodel feared Hodel might be a victim of foul play, as he was carrying $350 in his pocket when last seen.

Dogs, which picked up the scent at the house and followed it to a point on Rosemont avenue in the Cragmont district about two miles from Hodel's home, lost track of the missing man and were called off the scent.

Hodel had apparently arrived at an empty house on Keeler street and rested there for a time on the porch, where the dogs lost the trail.

The missing attorney was injured in a fall while swimming in Sacramento about two months ago, suffering severe spinal and head injuries. He has not spoken or written a word since he returned to Berkeley July 23 and was partly paralyzed.

Hodel is 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighs 186 pounds, has blonde hair and a dimple in the chin and walks with a pronounced limp.

Captain Rogers flew back here with Charles Moravia, Haitian newspaperman and representative of the president of Haiti.

"The stench of burning bodies met me at a 4000 foot altitude while I was 40 miles away from Santo Domingo," Rogers said. "The cemetery was flooded and the bodies of those long dead were lying above the ground. I noticed 31 city blocks leveled practically to the ground."

"A truck driver with a load of bodies cheerfully shouted: 'More dead' to me, waving his hand and smiling. The entire population is still unable to realize the extent of the disaster."

VICTIM OF TORTURE DIES

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—UP—The hermit of Visitation Valley, Giovanni Marcelli, 70, died in a hospital here today from a beating which he claimed was administered by two young men and an attractive 18 year old girl in an unsuccessful attempt to make him reveal where his money was hidden.

Authorities were mystified because descriptions of the assailants given by Marcelli were vague and differed radically from those furnished by others in the neighborhood. Detectives determined that the reclus was beaten over the head with a rolling pin.

When officers of the first call for Marcelli's shack two days ago they found the aged man unconscious and his little shack torn up, furniture having been broken and boards having been removed from the floor.

Marcelli lived a mile from his wife and children in an isolated part of the city.

Freeman Wins From Thompson On Decision

CLEVELAND, Sept. 5.—Tommy Freeman won the world's welter-weight crown by slashing his way to a 15-round decision over Young Jack Thompson of Oakland here tonight.

From the opening bell the challenger took the offensive driving lefts and rights that left the issue at no time in doubt. Only the stubbornness of the champion prevented Freeman from winning by a knockout. He was supreme in both fighting and at long range, finding Thompson's face and body leaving the negro groggy.

Thompson could not get his right into action, confining his blows to short left uppercuts that frequently went wild. His long stabs were also ill-timed, the new champion slashing out to return with rapid rights and lefts that sent 15,000 spectators into a delirium of joy.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 5.—Incensed over the cutting of a fixed price for salmon during the middle of the week, 300 fishermen in the Sacramento River Fishermen's union will meet here tomorrow morning to determine their future acts.

On Wednesday of this week the Northern California Fisheries cut the price of salmon from five cents per pound to four cents, and fishermen have been ordered to limit their catch of fish to a maximum of 400 pounds per boat per day.

Richmond held the upper hand during the first half of the contest. In the third quarter, University started to bear down upon the local line. The final quarter opened up with a determined attack by the Red and Blue squad, but they were repulsed by the visitors, and the game came to an end on Richmond's 35 yard line.

Masek started the game by kicking off to University's goal line. The ball was brought back to University's 30 yard line. The visiting kicker was unable to compete with the strong wind that was sweeping down the field, and several kicking attempts resulted only in the ball being downed on University's own 30 yard line. University was also continually penalized for off-side plays. The Richmond backfield succeeded in breaking through to their opponents' 18 yard line. University was then penalized 15 yards for holding, and the ball was placed on the three yard line. However, the visiting punter kicked out to his own 13 yard line. The quarter ended on University's 15 yard line.

In the second quarter, University punted to Richmond's 43 yard line. Richmond was held by the University line, and was forced to punt, bringing the ball to University's 27 yard line. Neither team seemed able to make headway, and the piskin was booted up and down the field without much effect. Then University fumbled, and Richmond recovered on their opponents' 20 yard line. Mike Brock commenced his characteristic line plunging, and brought the ball to the 8 yard line. The whistle then blew for the half.

Masek kicked off to University's 20 yard line to open the final half. A repetition of the punting of the first half then followed. Probably the most spectacular moment in the game then occurred when a pass from Haywood to Parish brought the ball to Richmond's three yard line. Richmond's crisis ended when University was penalized 15 yards for holding. University punted over Richmond's goal line, and the ball was brought to the 20 yard line. Ed Masek then performed a sensational run which brought the action to University's 30 yard line.

Drexel received a pass from Masek on the 22 yard line, and Brock followed through with a line plunge to the 18 yard line. However, Richmond's advance was stopped there, and University kicked to Richmond's 30 yard line. Stoddard received the punt, and made a fine broken field run to his own 48 yard line. During the final quarter, the play was confined mainly to the middle zones. A maximum amount of punting was performed during the fourth period, and the ball was brought toward the local goal and then to University's goal line repeatedly. The game ended with the ball on Richmond's 35 yard line.

The Richmond line was probably Richmond's weakest spot. The line fought well but in a rather disorganized fashion. They began to function more properly in the final half. The local backfield battered the University defense continually during the entire game. Ed Masek was probably Richmond's greatest yardage gainer. Mike Brock also did important damage to the opposing line in yesterday's scrimmage. Other yardage gainers for Richmond were Merle Baskett, Leslie Scarsella, Woodrow Snoggrass, Jack Stoddard, and John Rosano. Richmond's lineup in yesterday's game with University High school was as follows: Drexel, Jaillat, ends; Westman, Ball, tackles; Hoeffer, Corrazo, guards; Hall, center; Captain Ed Masek, Scarsella, halfbacks; Baskett, fullback; Stoddard, quarterback; substitutes—Passone, end; Lilly, Baxter, tackles; Perry, Davilla, guards; Briggs, center; G. Miller, fullback; Snodgrass, quarterback; Risner, Brock, fullbacks. The University High school lineup yesterday was as follows: Stallworth, Landon, ends; Gustafson, D'Aifonso, tackles; Glenn, Condit, guards; Gossler, center; Parish, quarterback; Jones, Hart, halfbacks; Haywood, fullback; substitutes—Peterson, tackle; McLeod, guard; Arlett, Brock, halfbacks.

PRESIDENT OF ARGENTINE OUSTED

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 5.—UP—President Hipolito Irigoyen today turned his office over to the vice president, following a series of political attacks upon him.

Wild excitement greeted the announcement. Martial law was declared almost at once.

The exact nature of the presidency was not at the moment made clear.

Leaves Office

It was announced at first simply that the elderly, forceful chief executive had resigned. Soon afterward, it was said that he had turned his office over to the vice president, Dr. Enrique Martinez.

It was explained that this constituted a delegation of power by the president which would permit him, without violation of the constitution, to resume office later if he so chose.

Thus his retirement is provisional, it was said, and he could legally resume his office.

Bad Health

It was intimated that an official announcement to be issued regarding the president's action might attribute his withdrawal to ill health.

The president's action followed weeks of agitation against him. It was declared that he had refused to cooperate with other branches of the government, and he had made bitter enemies.

The streets of Buenos Aires were filled with wildly gesticulating, shouting throngs as the president's action was announced. People ran excitedly to and fro.

Parades Held

The students active in the demand for Irigoyen's retirement, exuberant with joy, danced parading down the avenues.

When the news was sent booming over the city through the customary announcement bombs set off by local newspapers, the people in a frenzy embraced each other and shouted with joy. Sirens shrieked, adding to the pandemonium. Fireworks, however, were set off as the traditional manner of announcing such important events in Argentina.

The students in Buenos Aires in the past 24 hours had paraded almost constantly through the capital, clashing intermittently with the police as they shouted demands for the president's resignation.

Two Killed

The fights resulted in at least two deaths, and many were wounded as political hatred against Irigoyen rose to an almost hysterical pitch.

The "student revolt" was the most articulate phase of the rising antipathy toward the aging president, long unpopular with a large section of the people.

The students had sought to reach government houses and demand Irigoyen's resignation. Police prevented them. They marched belligerently through the city, shouting "assassin" and demanding that the people force the president to quit his office.

Popular Cause

They were cheered as they marched. Their cause was popular.

Shops in the vicinity of the Plaza de Mayor, where a serious clash occurred last night, closed their doors early, fearing violence. Shutters were placed across barred windows.

Classes at the University of Buenos Aires were suspended on account of the "student revolt," and out of respect to Juvenio Aguilar, said to be a student, killed in the fighting last night as the students rushed the police lines at the government house.

One policeman died of wounds suffered during the fighting. Others were injured. Many students were hurt and some were carried off to hospitals for treatment.

No Plans

Police Chief Graneros conferred with the minister of interior, Enrique Gonzalez, but the government issued no announcement of its plans.

The declaration of martial law was in line with the government's action in the past week, mobilizing naval and army forces in the vicinity of Buenos Aires and placing a heavy guard around Irigoyen's residence.

The rising antipathy toward the president was seen as the reason back of these emergency precautions, but no official explanation was forthcoming. Members of the cabinet sought to minimize the significance of the warlike maneuvers.

Guns in Place
Machine guns were placed at strategic places in the vicinity of the president's residence, some on nearby roofs guarding avenues leading to it.

The demands for Irigoyen's resignation culminated in the action today, but it was made clear his handing over of the functions of office to Vice-President Martinez did not constitute formal resignation.

Bitter political enmity, even within the radical party, his own organization, had been aroused by Irigoyen's attitude toward others in public office, his opponents declared. They said he sought to concentrate all authority under himself.

Dead Negro Gets Pardon

JACKSON, Miss.—UP—The State of Mississippi last week pardoned a negro who has been dead since November, records at the penitentiary offices here reveal. He returned to his home and died his petition for clemency unanswered until last week.

Sand And Beer Diet Jails Man

VALDOSTA, Ga.—The doctor ordered him to drink home-brew and eat sand for his health, pleaded G. B. Moore, Judge Cranford said he was sorry. The prescription, Moore added, was three bottles of homebrew a day and a handful of clean sand. Sometimes he did accommodate a friend by letting him have a few bottles at "cost," though Moore concluded.

"Good Time" To All Left In Will

MARQUETTE, Mich.—"Everybody is to have a good time," were the final instructions left in his will by John M. Young regarding his funeral. He set aside funds for musicians who were "to play a good lively tune at the grave, not a sad one," and "candy and gum for the children." But nobody had the good time for the will was denied in probate court on the ground that it had been improperly witnessed.

DAUGHTERS, MOTHERS AT BANQUET MEET

The "mystery" of the Missionary mothers which has been a problem to girls of the Standard Bearer Auxiliary for the past year, was cleared when the true identity of the mothers was found at the Missionary Mother-Daughter banquet held last evening at the Wesley Methodist Episcopal church.

The lovely dinner served at 6 o'clock was cleverly carried out in many novel appointments. The colors of the Standard Bearer Auxiliary, red, purple and green were the theme of the favors, nut cups and flowers that artistically adorned the banquet table. Asters and ferns completed the color scheme in an attractive centerpiece.

Mrs. Earl Menker, superintendent of the Oakland district, young peoples league was the honor guest of the evening and delivered a very interesting address.

The local girls claim the honor of making the largest candle of any of the surrounding district leagues, according to Mrs. Menker. For the past year the girls the country over have been making candles and an award for the largest one has been offered. The candles will be displayed at the Hollywood convention next month and at the national Standard-Bearer Auxiliary meeting held in Massachusetts in November.

The retiring president, Mrs. L. Pennington, was presented with several lovely gifts in a novel fashion. The gifts and candle were presented in the form of a huge cake and provided one of the interesting features of the banquet.

Many entertaining numbers composed the delightful program which followed.

A greeting to mothers was extended by Valerie Mills, Anna Beutson, Jessie McKenzie, and Arlene Ellis.

Response by Mothers—Miss Florence Christopher, Mrs. J. F. Craig, Mrs. Charles G. Lindemann, Mrs. Pearl Cuthbertson.

Duet: "Whispering Hope" Anna Bengtson, Valerie Mills.

U. C. MAN TO EDIT FOREST MAGAZINE

BERKELEY, Sept. 5.—Emanuel Fritz, associate professor of forestry in the University of California, has just been made editor-in-chief of the Journal of Forestry. This is the only technical or professional publication devoted to forestry in the United States. Now in its twenty-eighth year, it has an international distribution. Professor Fritz succeeds Samuel T. Dana, who resigned to devote his time to other work. The new editor will assume his duties with the October issue of the Journal; he has been a member of the editorial staff for eight years.

Professor Fritz is a native of Baltimore, Maryland, and was graduated from the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute in 1905, and from Cornell University in 1908 with an M. S. degree. He entered the Yale Forestry school in 1912, graduating in 1914 with the degree of M. F. After half a year with the state forester of New Hampshire, Fritz entered the United States Forest Service as forest assistant. In 1915 he was assigned to the Coeur d'Alene national forest in Idaho, and in 1916 saw service at the Fort Valley forest experiment station, in the Coronado national forest in Arizona.

When the United States entered the World War, Fritz became a member of the Air Service, serving until the end of the war. In July, 1919, he was appointed a member of the staff of the Division of Forestry at the University of California, to handle forest products and wood utilization, the position he now holds. He is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and of the Hoo Hoo, a national social organization of lumbermen.

FANNIE BRICE IN FILM AT FOX

Fannie Brice, the inimitable comic star of song and dance will be shown at the Fox-California theater today only, when the United Artists all-talking, a-l singing picture, "Be Yourself" opens in a sensational blaze of music and laughter.

Unlike most musical productions "Be Yourself" has a strong plot. Cabaret and theater scenes, which give Miss Brice the opportunity to sing several "hit" numbers, and the more serious scenes are complementary parts, and they blend into the comic whole without jarring effect.

Without Miss Brice's songs, the picture would be smashing entertainment in itself, but with them, it is a feature that deserves a high place among those recent melodramas super productions brought on by the development of sound.

Miss Brice is cast as a night club entertainer, whose romantic yearnings are satisfied in the promise of a prize-fighter (Robert Armstrong), whose physical laziness is his one great handicap. She appoints herself as his manager and trainer and succeeds in winning the championship for him. These honors, however, make him vain. He has his nose resculptured and falls victim to the wiles of a blond chorus girl (Gertrude Astor). How Miss Brice teaches him a lesson in love—and fighting—and wins him back eliminates the argument.

Especially noteworthy is the excellent dramatic acting of Miss Brice, who heretofore has devoted most of her efforts in the distinctive field of comedy, of which she is the undisputed head.

Robert Armstrong, as the prize-fighter sweetheart of Miss Brice, gives an excellent performance, and others in the cast who share supporting honors are Gertrude Astor, Harry Green, as the section-quoting lawyer-brother of the star, G. Pat Collins as the fighter's opponent, and Bud Pine as the cabaret manager, and Jimmy Tolson, the 14-year-old singer whose one song in the picture is an arioso of the great future in store for him.

The picture was ably directed by Thornton Freeland and supervised by John W. Considine Jr., general production executive at the United Artists studios, Hollywood.

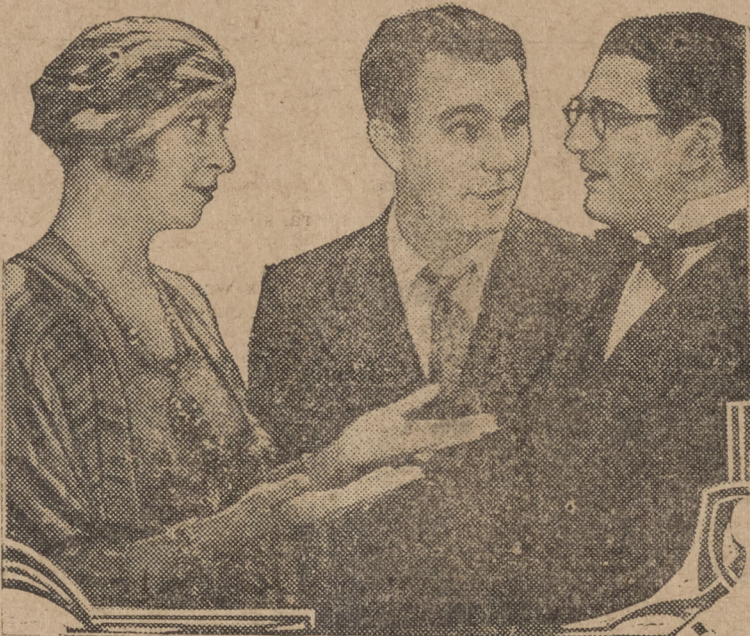

examined in the universities laboratories, two-thirds were found to be harboring the organisms found in conjunction with pyorrhea of the human mouth. It is impossible to state what part the amoebae play in the causation of pyorrhea, as experiments have not yet shown that the disease is a result of a number of contributing factors.

Normal Mouths Uncontaminated
The report, published by the University Press under the title of "Oral Amoebae of Monkeys," stated: "Of the total number of monkeys examined, only those with typically normal mouths were found to be free from infestations of Endamoeba gingivalis. In those individuals affected with inflammatory pyorrhea of varying intensities the oral amoebae could be demonstrated by smears or cultures. The number and size of amoebae found depend greatly upon the clinical conditions of the mouth. Comparatively few amoebae are present where the pyorrhea condition is not severe and the food of inflammation limited to one or two teeth, but in the more advanced stages exhibiting microscopic pus, and in some cases a purplish venous stasis, the number of amoebae found is considerable, and the infection is not limited, but spread throughout the mouth. It is of interest to note that in young monkeys just prior to and during the loss of the deciduous teeth there was a temporary, increasing found in the number of amoebae. Cultural and morphological studies have shown that the human and monkey strains of oral amoebae are indistinguishable."

Report Just Published
A report on this work has just been published by Professor Charles A. Kofoid, chairman of the department of zoology, and Herbert B. Johnston, graduate student registered from San Francisco. The study was made under the provisions of the Stomatological Research group, aided by grants from the Carnegie Corporation, the American Dental Association, the California State Dental association, and E. R. Squibb and Sons.

STUDY IS MADE OF SPIDER BITES

DAVIS, Sept. 6.—While there have been many stories of persons suffering from the bites of the spider known as the Black Widow, there probably have been no more occurrences of this kind than in the past year. This is the opinion of Dr. T. I. Storer, associate professor of zoology in the University of California College of Agriculture.

"This spider is common all through the warmer sections of California and Lower California," says Professor Storer, "and while it ordinarily does not inhabit the cooler coast regions and the mountain districts, it has appeared there, carried undoubtedly through the transportation of such materials as wood."

Bite Seldom Fatal
While the bite of the Black Widow is usually followed by very painful results, it is seldom fatal, says Dr. Storer. He points out that in one hospital where 38 cases of the bite from this spider have been handled in the last six years, there was but one fatality, that of an old man of very weakened resistance.

"However," he says, "the bite is not to be taken lightly, and a person who has been bitten should consult a physician at once. In southern California, where for years there have been many cases annually, it has been found the best treatment is a convalescent serum, made from the blood of a person who is recovering from the effects of a bite."

Long Legged Spider
The Latrodectus mactans, as the Black Widow is technically known, is a rather large black spider, with unusually long legs. From its shiny appearance it also is known as the shoe button spider. Under its abdomen are two triangles of red or orange, touching at their points so as to suggest the third name by which the insect sometimes is known, the hour-glass spider.

Throughout the state this year there have been published many articles telling of persons who have been bitten by the Black Widow. This has led to the assumption on the part of many that the insect has increased in numbers or that it is unusually active this summer. Dr. Storer believes that it is only the usual amount of publicity that has been given the spider that it has taken the center of interest.

Runaway Youth Tries Six Trips

EL PASO, Tex.,—Hugh Hurst, 12, thinks quite a lot of his uncle in California—during the last year he has run away from his home at Uvalde, Tex., six times to make the pilgrimage to the Pacific coast. When arrested here by probation officers Hurst told of his previous home-leavings and then added this is as far as I ever got before I was caught.

No. 1 Husband Becomes No. 3

OTEGA, N. Y.,—UP—After an absence of 50 years, during which he has traveled more than 12,000 miles, John Clay Bieler of Otego is back with his wife. While in Australia his wife obtained an "Enoch Arden" divorce and remarried. Her second husband died a few years later. When Bieler returned they were re-married.

New Book On Comets Given To The Public

BERKELEY, Sept. 5.—As the latest step in the evolution of the study of comets from a mystic delving into the future by ancient meteoromancers to the present mathematical approach, Professor R. T. Crawford of the University of California has just published a simplified textbook on the computation of comet and asteroid orbits, for the benefit of students of the subject.

In contrast to the knowledge of astronomers of only three centuries ago, which Edmund Halley first discovered that comets were members of the solar system and were to periodic return, over fixed orbits, Professor Crawford's book presents the "best methods of accurately computing the orbits of comets or of their comae the asteroids, from as few as three telescopic observations.

The new methods of orbit computation, with which Professor Crawford deals are those of Professor A. O. Leuschner, director of the University of California Student Observatory, and G. Merton, English astronomer. The book has been published by the McGraw-Hill company.

In his preface, Professor Crawford says in part: "There are several exceedingly valuable treatises on the subject of orbit determination. These works are very complete, but the volumes appear large and formidable to the student beginning the subject. Further, with the exception of Bessel's work, they do not contain the latest methods, two of which are those of Leuschner and Merton, which have met with so much success in recent years. There is, therefore, for a work that gives these methods, beginning the subject, and for an impetus to others to take up the subject, this book, in which Leuschner's and Merton's methods are presented, is written."

This notice will be here at the Fox-California theater tomorrow and Monday.

Fruit Company Faces Charges

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 5.—Hearing of the Pioneer Fruit company of San Francisco on charges preferred under the Commission Merchants Act by a Lodi grape grower of failure to pay in full for grapes accepted for sale on consignment was set today by the division of markets, department of agriculture for September 23 at Lodi.

The notice of hearing, signed by Associate Chief of Market Fred N. Bigelow on behalf of Director G. H. Hecke was issued after departmental investigation of the formal complaint signed by Mrs. Sarah J. Fanos, Mrs. Fanos alleges that the Pioneer Fruit company failed to pay her for 1377 lug boxes of grapes handled on consignment during the 1929 season. She claims $702 is due her, and that the company refused to pay her claim.

The Commission Merchants Act provides that the department of agriculture may investigate complaints preferred by growers against selling agents, and, if unable to obtain a settlement, may set the complaint for formal hearing.

JACK OAKIE IN NEW SONG HIT

When it comes to "delivering" a song, there are not many movie stars who can equal the gusto of Jack Oakie's warbling.

In "Paradise on Parade" "Sweetie" "Hit the Deck" and other this wise-cracking exponent of the Broad Grim demonstrated his ability to please audiences nightly with his fresh and breezy style of song-plugging.

In "The Sap from Syracuse" the inimitable Oakie sings a brand new number, a romantic melody, "I Wish I Could Sing a Love Song" to Ginger Rogers, the penny little "chirp and tery" girl who made such a personal hit in "Young Man from Manhattan."

Critics of popular music are already rating Oakie's new song as a smash-hit on the basis of its haunting melody and clever lyrics. "The Sap from Syracuse" is based on the Broadway comedy of the same name which had an exceptionally successful run in New York last season. It is the story of a young outlander who boards a vessel for Europe and is mistaken by all the passengers for a prominent mining engineer, reported to be traveling incognito.

Oakie, tickled by the adulation he receives, lets them believe he is the scientist. The consequence is an engaging plot with an abundance of funny situations, enhanced by Oakie's glowing and irresistible wisecracking.

This picture will be here at the Fox-California theater tomorrow and Monday.

FRENCH ARMY DRIVES BACK INVADERS

PARIS, Sept. 5.—UP—France waged "war" against Germany and Italy today on two battle fronts, repulsing the invaders in both sectors.

Against a theoretical invasion of Germans into the territory of Alsace and Lorraine, the French war office Thursday threw 50,000 trained soldiers in a counter-offensive in the region of Nancy. On the southern border 50,000 Alpine troops successfully fought off an "invasion" from Italy.

For the first time in history, French tanks were able to scale the mountainous ridges of Maurienne, demonstrating that tanks will play a great part in any future engagements in the rough territory dividing France and Italy.

Despite the protests of nationalists, today's maneuvers demonstrated that France's covering troops were virtually sufficient to withstand a shock attack on two fronts. The movement along the Franco-Italian frontier started on Monday.

Man Jailed On Kidnapping Count In East

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—UP.—C. Edward Pope, 66-year old janitor, was under arrest today as the kidnapper of Grace Budd, two years ago in a case which attracted nationwide attention.

Four detectives arrested Pope Thursday after his wife, Mrs. Jessie Pope, had denounced him to police as the kidnapper of the child. Mrs. Della Budd, mother of the missing girl, later picked Pope out of a police lineup as the man who drove away with her daughter and failed to return.

Grace Budd, 10, was kidnapped June 3, 1928, by a man who described himself as Frank Howard, Long Island farmer. He had been friendly with the family and begged permission to take the girl to a birthday party given for his sister. Mrs. Budd allowed the child to accompany him. Neither the girl nor Howard was seen again.

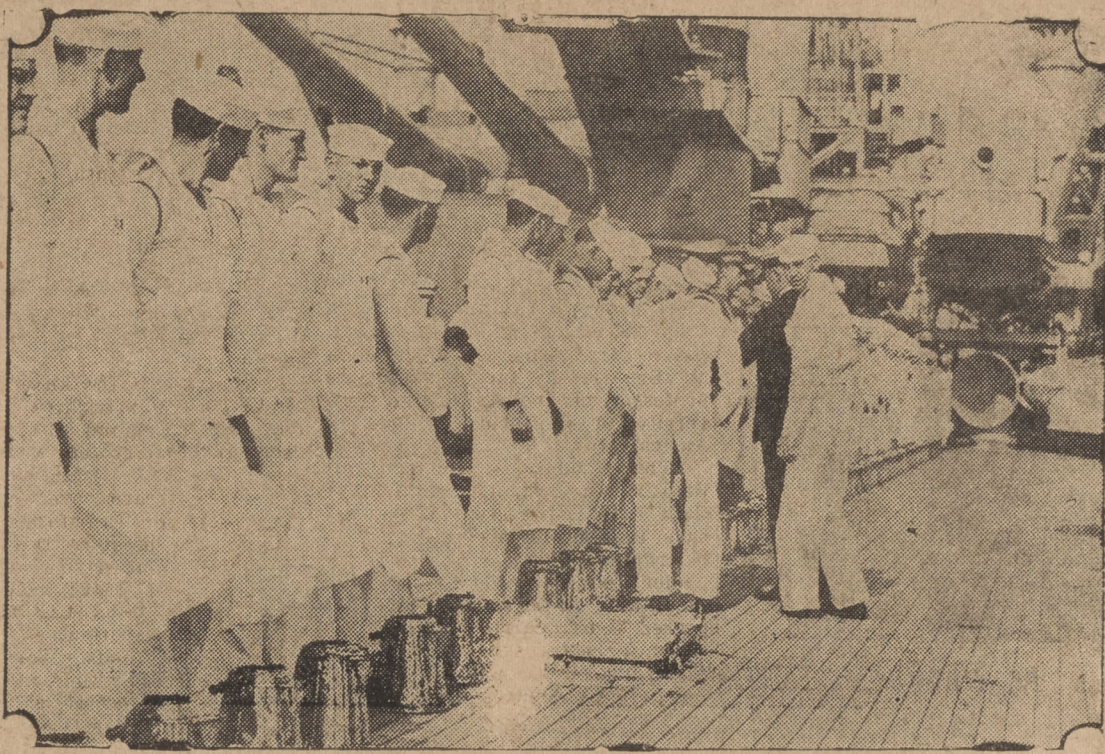

Through four hours of questioning last night Pope denied any knowledge of the case, claiming he was the victim of his wife's malice.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—A search light, installed during the World's Fair, and almost forgotten despite its tremendous power since, is to be fixed, and its rays pierce the 175 miles it is capable of on a clear night.

The light is on the dome of the University City, city hall. It has a special lens five feet in diameter and an 80-inch projector. The arc light generates 250,000,000 candle power. The light was the largest ever constructed by the General Electric company, which had to check back on records to verify the fact it had built it.

Two Buildings To Be Erected At U. C. Farm

DAVIS, Sept. 5.—Construction is to begin at once on two new buildings for the use of the animal husbandry and the veterinary science divisions, according to announcement here today by Assistant Comptroller D. G. MacLise. The buildings, which will cost approximately $10,000, will be erected under the direction of John Jacobson, construction superintendent at the branch of the college of agriculture here. Plans for the buildings were drawn by W. C. Hays, professor of architecture in the University of California.

The building for the use of the veterinary science division will provide for two box stalls, two poultry pens, seven small pens and one large one, a laboratory and feed room. That designed for the use of the animal science group will have four box stalls, operating on concrete yards, a laboratory, feed room and storage room.

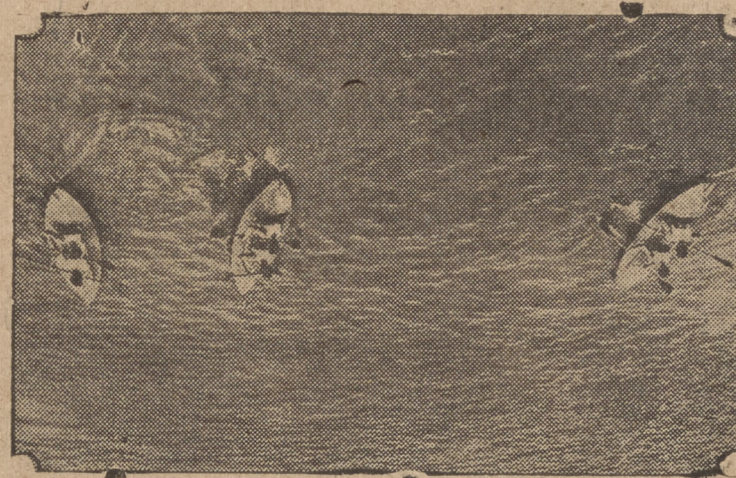

Ford Declares U. S. Recovering

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—UP.—The United States is just beginning to recover from a severe illness, Henry Ford said tonight in an interview prior to his sailing for Germany on the liner Bremen.

"The country is starting to get well at last," Ford said. "Times are very good right now compared to what they were. Everybody is thinking now. That's something they didn't do a year or even two years ago. All they thought about was buying and selling stocks."

"It took a long time for the country to get sick. The illness reached its peak last month and I dare say it was a severe illness. It's going to take as long for the country to get well as it took to get sick. They wouldn't get any good out of it if it got well too soon."

GIRL FLIER SETS NEW RECORD

AGUA CALIENTE, Baja California, Mexico, Sept. 5.—They're clinking glasses in the exotic Mexican cafe at the hotel here as they toast Miss Ruth Alexander, girl flier who just set a new official nonstop airplane record between Canada and Mexico. And the castranets are snapping out the refrain of that popular song:

"Wah-wah-wah-wah . . . Wotta Gal!"

For Miss Alexander, 21-year-old holder of the official woman's altitude record for light planes, in adding a new record to her string is now officially credited with the nonstop time of 15 hours, 54 minutes and 30 seconds between Vancouver and Agua Caliente.

Definite announcement of the recheck of Miss Alexander's flight made with a Richfield-fueled and Richlube-oiled Barling low wing light monoplane, was made here today by William Van Dusen, San Diego chamber of commerce representative.

Van Dusen, as representative of both the National Aeronautical association and the Federation Aeronautique Internationale contest boards, checked Miss Alexander's barograph. He definitely expressed the opinion that the record will be accepted officially as an international one.

Despite the fact that Miss Alexander has been flying less than a year and has been little accustomed to night aviation, she came through the ordeal of fog and night flying with colors flying. It is noted. She took off in the darkness of 3:19 a. m. from Vancouver in a heavy fog. When she landed here on the hurriedly lighted Agua Caliente flying field at 7:15 p. m. the same day, it was again deep dark. Yet she set her thin plane down in three-point perfection.

Many members of the huge Labor Day crowd at the field track remained and missed the 6 o'clock "line" at the border in order to welcome the girl aviator. Many women enthusiasts in particular, it was noted, were at the field to greet her when she landed.

The waiting crowd at the field was entertained with radio music from Outdoor Franklins celebrated "Richfield Road Scout Car", the official press automobile which carried newspaper representatives here from Los Angeles. At about 7:15 the sound of her engine was heard and the cry arose—"here she comes!" A half minute later, as the crowd cheered and auto horns blended in a chorus of greeting, Miss Alexander "set her down" and taxied skillfully to the edge of the field. With a dog in her arms, she climbed to the top of the cockpit and, after shaking hands with James N. Crofton, Agua Caliente general manager and

FLINT SLAYER HELD SANE BY JURY

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5.—UP.—Frank D. Keaton, middle-aged real estate salesman, today was declared sane by a jury of six men and six women and faces hanging or life imprisonment for the murder of Motley Flint, prominent southern California banker.

Superior Judge B. Rey Schauer must determine the degree of punishment and sentence Keaton early next week.

Flint, a brother of the late United States Senator Frank Flint died last July as he stepped from a witness stand in a superior courtroom and was felled by three bullets fired at close range by Keaton.

The real estate salesman readily admitted killing the banker. He said his "mind went blank" when he saw Flint walk toward him in the courtroom, where a minor civil case was on trial.

Keaton's attorneys decided to base their entire case upon the theory that the slayer was insane. A jury which started to deliberate last night took only a few hours to decide to the contrary.

The slayer had lost money in the recent decline of the stock market and claimed this was the principal reason he desired to kill Flint. He also held that Flint had a part in wrecking the Julian Petroleum corporation with losses to thousands of small investors.

Keaton is a quiet manner little man, and with the exception of one or two dramatic outbursts, sat quietly throughout the many investigations and court sessions which followed the slaying. He lived with his wife and two small children in Inglewood, a suburb of Los Angeles.

GIRL HELD IN ATTACK ON CHIEF

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—UP.—Lucyie Wilkinson, pretty 17 and an athlete, was under arrest today while officers sought the youth whom she said she loved so much she was willing to help him kill a chief of police to obtain money for a marriage license.

The intended victim, Police Chief A. A. Terry, of Midlothian, friend of both the girl and her fiancé, owed his existence to the fact that he fell down at a psychological moment.

Miss Wilkinson and Emil Kieckner, 19 lured Terry to a swampy, lonely region by telling him they had seen a man there who was either dead or unconscious. As Terry stepped from his car, his foot slipped and he fell, thereby escaping a blow which Kieckner had aimed at the back of his head with a heavy club. The officer fired four shots at Kieckner as the youth fled.

The girl, who gained fame as an athlete at Fenger high school, told police she and Kieckner had stolen clothes for her trousseau and had planned to kill Terry, secure his gun, hold up oil stations and get enough money to be married and escape to some distant city.

She said they originally had planned to use $5 which they stole from Kieckner's parents for a marriage license, but spent it for other things and existed in the swampy region for several days, stealing in the open and stealing food from farms.

"It was Emil's plan to kill you," she told Terry. "Why didn't you just come to me and let me help you out of your troubles?" Terry asked. "Because he wanted to kill you for the money, and I love him and wouldn't double cross him," the girl answered with a defiant toss of her red curls.

THE WOMAN'S MOVEMENT RATES TWO BIRTHDAY CAKES

II. The Woman Suffrage Amendment Ten Years Old

TEN years ago today former Secretary of State Colby signed the proclamation which made the Nineteenth, or woman suffrage amendment, the law of the land, and gave all the women of the United States the opportunity to vote in the presidential election of 1920. There will be birthday celebrations by veteran suffragists all over the country. There will also be sober thoughts as to what women's winning of the franchise really has accomplished.

The League of Women Voters publishes a budget of newly collected opinions from distinguished citizens of either sex on women and the ballot. Two observations on this theme, after ten years of votes for women, are likely to occur to everyone.

First, all the terrific consequences prophesied by the anti-suffragists have failed to come off. Homes have not been disrupted, babies have not been neglected, husbands have not been abandoned, because the wife and mother spends half an hour once a year casting her vote. Nor has she herself to any dangerous extent, been contaminated and corrupted by the degrading atmosphere of politics. A few women have failed in public office, chiefly because they paid too much attention to the advice of men politicians, who themselves knew how to slide out from under and were not sorry to see their more unsophisticated feminine colleagues get into a jam.

But among women officeholders in the last ten years, the successes far outnumber the failures. The second obvious comment on ten years of woman suffrage is that it has brought about no millennium. Government has not been completely purified, wars have not ended for all time—even saloons have not all been closed. But only the more emotional and less thoughtful suffragists ever argued that they could vote into being a perfect state.

Certainly, some women never fooled themselves or gullied the public with the notion that, in ten years, they could correct all the mistakes which male citizens, voters and officeholders have been making for fifty years.

THE question remains, Is woman suffrage justified of its fruits? There are, it seems to this column, at least ten reasons—one for each year women have had the vote—why woman suffrage is justified, and here follows the list:

1. Woman suffrage stands as the nation's recent, decisive gesture of democracy, and justice toward its women, as the national refusal longer to group them with the other disfranchised—felons, idiots, children.

2. Woman suffrage corrects, for women the special wrong which our forefathers ended for themselves by years of bloody revolution—the wrong of taxation without representation. Women who own property and women who pay income tax now have a voice in how the money which the government takes from them shall be spent.

3. Woman suffrage gives to the working woman the protection long enjoyed by the working man—the opportunity to regulate by law the conditions of her labor.

4. Woman suffrage makes it possible for government to enlist directly the services of conscientious, intelligent and patriotic women—with more time and desire to hold office than most men of similar caliber possess.

5. Woman suffrage is slowly but surely giving women an opportunity to sit in party councils and to exercise authority in party management.

6. Woman suffrage, as Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt points out, has improved community conditions by giving to public-spirited women the chance to act directly as elected members of local boards and commissions and as voting advocates of local improvements.

7. Woman suffrage has inspired in men politicians a wholesome fear of the woman vote on "moral issues," and also has persuaded politicians to look coldly upon certain types of the unit candidate because "the women would never stand for him."

8. Woman suffrage, achieved, has set free the energies of the many good and intelligent women who worked to correct this obvious injustice, and who now can devote themselves to such work as causes as world peace and prohibition reform.

9. Woman suffrage has been a socializing force, in that it has taught women to work with women and with men—work loyally, self-forgetfully and with a tolerant humor.

10. Woman suffrage has given women humility—proved to them that they are not so much better and wiser than men, that in a few years they can end the immensely complicated, well-hidden, solidly entrenched corruption and the inefficiency of a great modern government; yet woman suffrage has made thoughtful women more resolute than ever to keep on trying to be better citizens of a better country.

King Carol of Roumania spends months asking his wife to forgive him, he or his friends try to bluff her into doing it by announcing that the reconciliation is complete; nevertheless, she resolutely refuses to come back and then Carol tells the world it was all her fault in the first place and he never will forgive her, so there! A DISH A DAY

Copyright by Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930.

These misty days, bring hot luncheon dishes back to favor, and the housewife who has delighted in the ease with which she could prepare seasonal luncheons of salads and sandwiches is apt to be at a loss for seasonal suggestions. If she will but glance at the fresh vegetables which are most abundant in the markets she will find many that are adapted to "dainty but nourishing" luncheon specialties.

Green peppers can be stuffed with rice and meat; the large tomatoes now in the market are ideal for grilling, and they are particularly good when stuffed with corned beef hash. But perhaps the most enticing of all the fresh vegetables in the market today is the Golden Bantam corn, so I am going to tell you how to make a delicious soufflé with corn and cheese.

Served with a crisp salad of watercress or cucumbers and endives this provides a well-balanced luncheon. And since the oven must be lighted for thirty-five minutes, it is an excellent opportunity to make a batch of muffins. Bread muffins are particularly good with this soufflé.

2 cups corn, cooked and cut from cob
1 cup grated cheese (American)
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of paprika

Few drops tabasco sauce
1 pint milk cut in strips
Melt the butter and stir flour, mixing to a smooth paste. Add the milk, a little at a time, and cook until thick and smooth. Add the egg yolks, stir, and when well blended add the cheese. Heat for a minute or two until the cheese is melted, then remove from the fire and beat well, adding the corn and seasoning, and paprika. Beat the egg whites to a stiff froth and fold them into the cheese mixture very carefully, so as to retain the fluffy texture. Pour into buttered baking dish, set this on top of hot water and bake in a moderate oven for thirty-five minutes.

Give Away Your Flowers

WHAT a waste to let the frost of early October destroy so many gorgeous blooming plants in the garden when they might be cheering the sick and old in hospitals and institutions. A thoughtful woman whose garden is stunning with annuals—huge ferns and geraniums—decided it was selfish to permit these to die with the frost and arranged with a neighboring hospital to have them removed to indoor boxes and pots for the benefit of the patients during the late autumn and winter.

There are many institutions within a short distance of the suburban home that would be delighted to have such a floral and plant contribution. If you feel that charity must begin at home this year and financial contributions will be impossible, remember this simple way of adding to the pleasure of those less fortunate than you. At least divide your garden bounty with many others in the neighborhood. Many of the plants of homes never have a single plant they can call their own. Your gift will be carefully and lovingly tended, you may be sure.

Ice-Box Pitchers

NEVER enough to suit any seeker after novelties are variously sized pitchers which will fit into corners of the refrigerator. Made of pottery in ivory, blue, green, yellow, red, and in black, these are square in shape and something like the English earthen tea-pots, have indented handles. Many come in the quart measure, the pint, and in low small sizes for the space between shallow shelves.

HERE PATTERN IN RUG, CURTAINS AND UPHOLSTERING IS USED WITH NICE DISCRETION

Dear Miss Zais: I have a problem that I am sure you can help me with. For various reasons my living room is now what I call "undecorated," and I now wish to make whatever changes you suggest that will make this room more livable. The attached is the floor plan of the room, which has an eastern exposure. The larger rug is an 8 by 10. Aminster, plain taupe with Oriental design in blending blues, greens, shades of rose and a bit of gold. The smaller rug has practically the same colorings and harmonizes very well with the large one. The floor is parquet.

I want to replace the daybed with a sofa. I should like one in the English club style, but would like your opinion as to its suitability, also color and texture of upholstery for same to blend with the wing chair which is of mahogany, what color would you advise? I also wish to recover the high-back chair, as the tapestry with which it is now covered is a very dull pattern, having a black background. What would you suggest?

What can I use on or above my piano, which is the new low studio type, to break up the expanse of wall above it? I now have a picture in each of the panels against which the piano stands, but this does not give much relief.

I now have overcurtains of cretonne in a green crevel design. What kind of overcurtains can I get for the winter? The walls are cream covered with buff trim in panels; woodwork is also cream, with walnut doors.

Can you suggest anything for my joyer, which now contains a green rug in an all-over foliage pattern in the modern trend, walnut console and mirror? There is quite a blank space, as you can see. How can I re-

HOW often dull, characterless rooms could be turned into charming, livable quarters through the change of a color note here, the addition of a pretty table and lamp or a group of pictures there, perhaps only the trained decorator knows. The homemaker is too easily discouraged, too prone to feel that this big piece of furniture or that must be cast out and costly new pieces introduced in order to achieve a good effect, and so many times misses the easier remedy.

Beyond question, to buy better, more up-to-date equipment delights one's soul and should be indulged in as often as possible. But even so, it is wiser first to make certain that one has made the best of present furnishings before discarding items that may still hold possibilities for good service.

In making recommendations for Mrs. T. we would suggest that the first step toward livability involves a rearrangement of her room. The diagram shows a number of changes that would give better balance, emphasis and comfort.

A new sofa would be a splendid addition, and it ought not to be a heavy, English club type, but one designed along less bulky lines—a Lawson or a Tuxedo sofa, for example. There are also a few good combination bed-couches that have simple lines, and one of these could be used in this room if the sofa must be considered for sleeping purposes. On the other hand, if the daybed were recovered and given a few extra cushions and a group of nice pictures for the wall space above it, could be made a very pleasing center of interest, particularly if it is placed against the window wall, as indicated in the diagram. For the new cover a sturdy, dark green material having a rough texture would be well with the other colors mentioned, and keep this large piece of furniture from becoming too conspicuous. We could then have two ample pillows of the same material and two in contrasting colors—perhaps one in rich red bound with gold, and the other in a dull golden tone bound with green. A plain broadloom rug in soft walnut brown would be very, very much better than the present rug, but the colors suggested could be used in either case.

For the picture group above the sofa it would be interesting to have one fairly large brownish picture and four smaller prints arranged as suggested on the diagram. If the wall is paneled in two sections and will permit this treatment, then for each panel two medium-sized prints hung directly above each other and rather close together might prove the better arrangement. Then, to keep the eye from wandering from side to side, we would place a bright colored cushion in the center of the daybed where it will, as we say, pull the group together.

In its new position, the sofa group with its pillows and pictures, the piano will seem so much less conspicuous that it will not need pictures on the wall above it, nor at either side, since side lights are well placed on the new wall. If Mrs. T. still feels the need of something to relieve the bareness, she could use a very simple gold and green runner across the top of the piano, and place a simple bowl or a low vase on the left side of the piano top where it will balance the standing lamp on the other side. It is not wise to call too much attention to these piano tops; far better to direct interest to the comfort group in the room. For this reason, too, the radio has been moved to the farther end of the room in favor of the long table with its lamp and comfortable big chair between the sofa and the window.

The coffee table suggested by Mrs.

A ROYAL EAVESDROP

OW the King and Queen took the news.

QUEEN (at telephone)—It's Glamis Castle on the wire now.

KING—What is it, a boy or a girl?

QUEEN—The returns from the maternity ward aren't all in yet. There's a delay.

KING—Not another delay, I hope. We've been waiting for this blessed event three weeks overtime already.

QUEEN—No; just a delay on the wire. (In the telephone) This is Queen Mary, operator. Put them on.

Yea... Yea... And which is it?

KING (to himself)—Come on, stick! Make it a boy!

QUEEN—Well, George, it's a girl.

KING—Oh, gosh! Just another dame to buy hats for!

QUEEN—What was that last crack?

KING—I said now you'll have another little girl to knit bonnets for. Well, Mary, I don't mind saying I'm disappointed.

QUEEN—What about?

KING—I wanted a boy so we could scare Dave into getting married. But you might know we wouldn't get it. That's what you get from marrying the Scotch!

QUEEN—York and the Duchess haven't been married half a dozen years yet. Give them a chance.

KING—We've given them two chances already. And the score is still 2 to 0 against us at the end of the second.

QUEEN—Why, I think it will be nice to have another granddaughter. I was getting behind on my knitting, anyway.

KING—Yeah, but look at the way they do things in America. The Lindberghs got a boy right away.

QUEEN—Why don't you speak to David again about getting married, then?

KING—A lot of good that'll do me. I spoke to him about giving up sleepwalking, didn't I? And what did he do? He gave it up and took to riding in airplanes. It would have been better if I'd kept my mouth shut in the first place.

QUEEN—That worries me, too. George had his another cigarette.

KING—Say, you're hitting the weed pretty regular, aren't you? I thought you gave it out to the papers you couldn't look an occasional after-dinner cigar.

QUEEN—You don't believe all you read in the papers, do you? Now strike me a match.

KING—Do you know what's going to happen some day if the Yorks don't start raising boys? The emperors have little Elizabeth sitting out there in the throne room.

QUEEN—She'll make a nice Queen, at that.

KING—I know it. But England wants a KING!

QUEEN—Well, maybe David will settle down and get married after he's been around a little more.

KING—Been around a little MORRIE's worn out half-oil naval cutters already, going on planes all over the world. Where else has he got to roam before settling down—to the North and South Poles?

QUEEN—Oh, just let the boy alone. Hell marry some day.

KING—Well, I hope it's before we—that is, before I—die of old age. But I'm certainly disappointed it's another girl for the Yorks.

QUEEN—You shouldn't be, George. Why, you ought to be very well pleased.

KING—Over what, please tell me?

QUEEN—Well, for one thing, we knew the duchess was going to have her baby before the New York tabloid papers got hold of it.

THIS AND THAT

Those judges only bought places on the New York bench because they didn't have enough to buy a seat on the Stock Exchange.

Why can't Lipton and our challenges get together around a frog pond and race with miniature yachts? It would give twice as many people a chance to see the race.

Chief Justice Hughes looks like a man who had failed for thirty years to lift a shaving mug.

The day Gerard named him as one of America's rulers, John D. Jr. gave jobs to 200 men. If the other fifty-eight would only get that way, too, there'd be 11,800 jobs at work.

We still don't understand whether Mother Kennedy's face was lifted by a surgeon or an appetizer.

"Automatic telephones in Paris by 1937."—Headline.

But by that time we'll have all our fingers snapped off by the dials over here.

It looks like Hack Wilson is trying to put a tack on the Home Run King's throne.

We don't see why Carm Coolidge can't cover the international yacht races from his typewriter in Northampton. He is giving the middle western farmers rain from there.

School nurse says all girls should know this

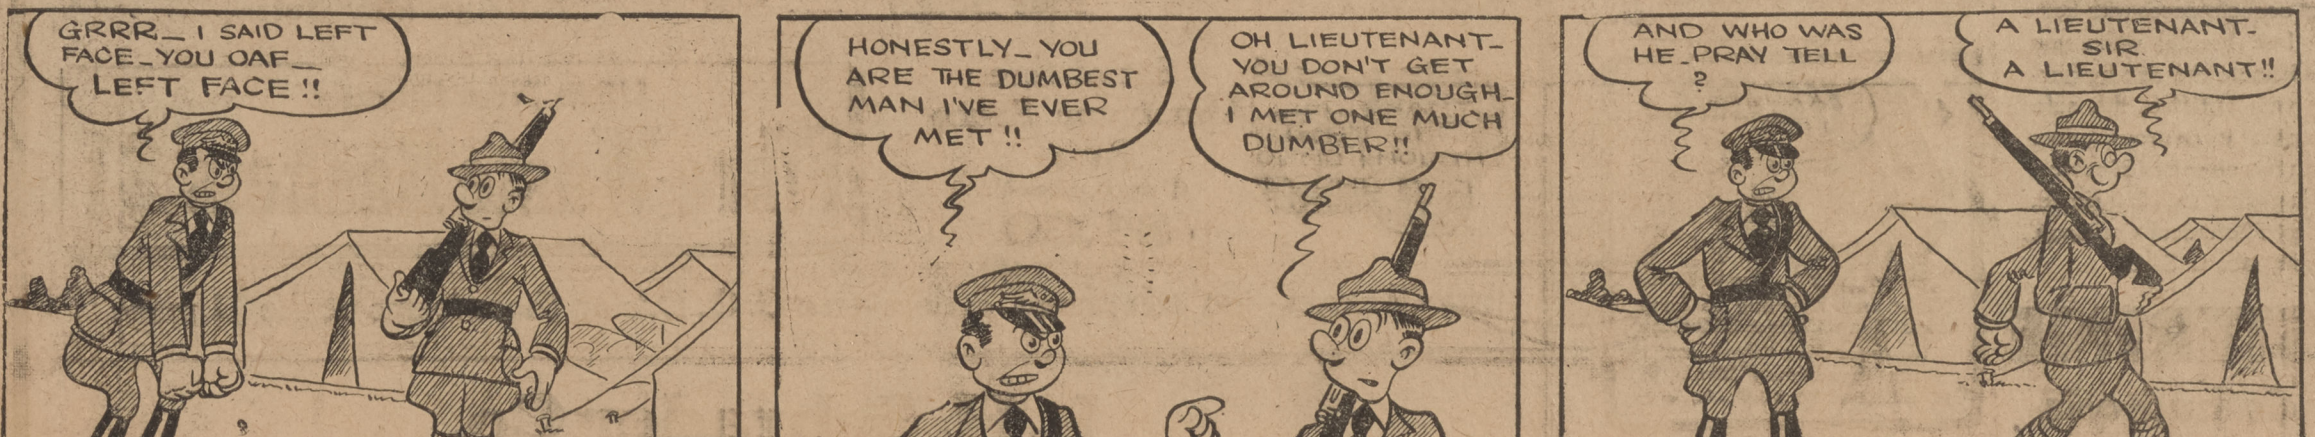

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."
Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

DEATH TOLL IN HURRICANE 2000

ter below 28 but 10 minutes later the hurricane wind came from the south and in two more hours completed the destruction.

A conservative estimate puts the loss of life at 1500, with the number of injured reaching 5000.

No loss of life was reported among continental Americans or Europeans here and all are believed safe.

Plane Arrives
President Trujillo has taken personal charge, the city is under martial law and good order prevails. The dead are being buried. Governor Theodore Roosevelt of Porto Rico dispatched personal representatives by airplane yesterday and is sending in behalf of the people of Porto Rico all available relief in the form of food, shelter, clothing and medical aid.

Today a marine plane arrived from Port Au Prince, Haiti, with representatives of Colonel Cutts and is returning immediately to bring medical officers and all possible medical supplies.

HOSPITALS UNABLE TO TAKE CARE OF INJURED

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, Sept. 5.—UP—Rescue workers, making all too scant headway through the wreckage deposited by Wednesday's hurricane, found fresh horror today as they came upon scores of injured for whom there was no possible hospital space.

The hospital Evangelico itself was severely damaged and the few buildings remaining were crowded with those barely escaping death in the whirling winds. Estimates of the dead reached 1000, an exact count now made unlikely because public health authorities ordered the bodies buried. There are between 2500 and 4000 injured.

Of these it is feared that a large percentage will succumb. The danger of pestilence was increased by lack of water and proper food. Only in the speedy arrival of relief ships and planes lies the possibility of life for hundreds.

Buildings Razed

The storm was no respecter of architecture or construction. Through its inexplicable whims an occasional flimsy dwelling was left standing and a concrete structure nearby was obliterated.

Among the buildings damaged were those housing the American, Cuban, Mexican, Spanish and Haitian legations. The Haitian minister and his family are now living in a cellar and are without adequate food and clothing.

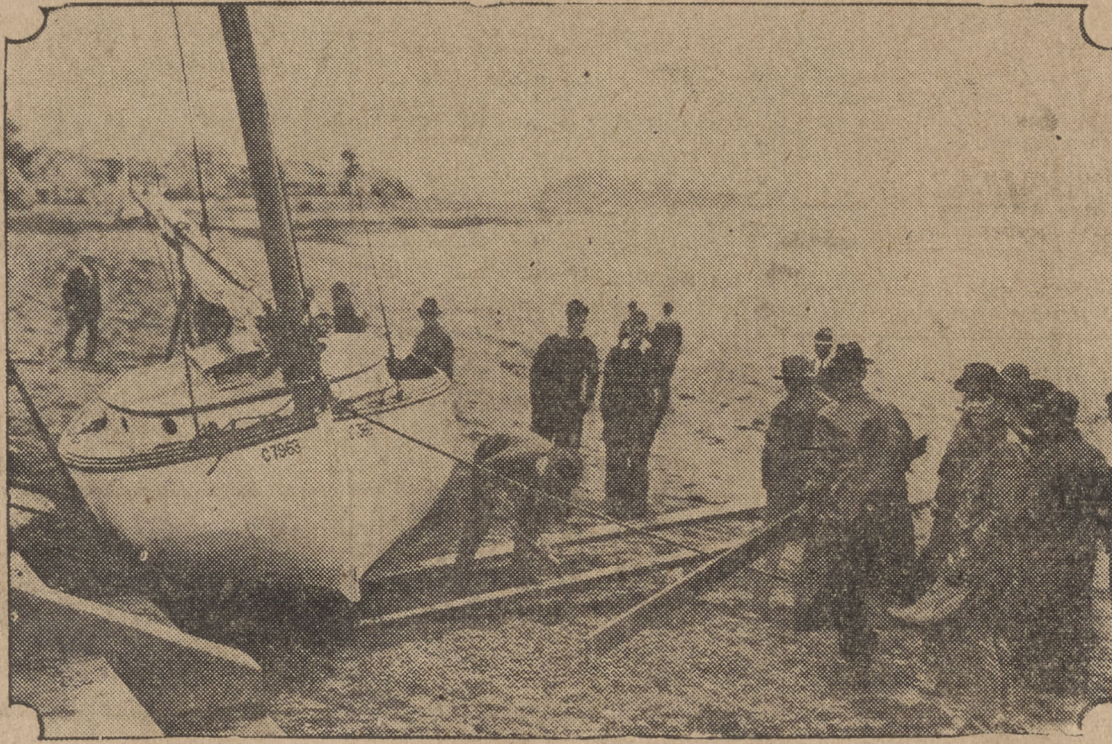

The Bull Insular steamship offices were wiped out, as was the Bank of Nova Scotia. So, too, to make the record complete, was the home of this correspondent.

Banks Suspended
All banking facilities were suspended and in consequence business was at a standstill. The rescue squads, upon resting from their labors, would wander down to the harbor in hope of sighting the relief ships enroute here from Porto Rico and other islands. In addition to three Red Cross ships expected tomorrow morning, a British warship is enroute; the British Legation advised, from an unnamed port.

Haiti is sending medical supplies overland but there was a probability that roads in the interior of Santo Domingo might prevent the arrival of the motor car dispatched from Port Au Prince. Not only are highways reported impassable from fallen trees but bridges are down and rivers are at flood stage.

NORFOLK, Conn.—Fifteen-year-old William Lengyel, cadet at Shorehaven Golf club, is suing Mrs. Filomena Cocchia, who boxed his ears, for $20,000. The boy, through his widowed mother, charges permanent impairment of hearing.

Wreckage of Storm

ONE OF the pleasure craft torn from its moorings and beached on Wollaston Beach, Mass., when one of the worst storms ever seen there struck the Massachusetts coast.

4 BAY MEN TAKE OWN LIVES

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 5.—UP—Four men, each dependent over the prospect of disaster, killed themselves in the San Francisco Bay region today.

Dudley Ayres, prominent actor and radio speaker, penned a note that he was afraid he was losing his mind and did not have the courage to go on, then shot himself through the head.

Fear that his bigamy would be detected and he would suffer caused Thomas Hedden to drown himself in the Alameda Estuary. Hedden deserted his wife to marry Nina Andrews, 16, on Aug. 9, last.

Depressed by financial worries, C. A. Levensaler, 54 stock broker, fired a bullet through his head while enroute to San Francisco from Oakland on a bay ferry.

All health was believed to have been responsible for Antonio Silva, 40, ending his life with a shot gun. Ayres addressed his farewell note to his wife. He had completed a radio talk and driven to his home. While he sat in his automobile in the garage he fired the shot that proved fatal.

He had played with various Pacific Coast stock company, including the Henry Duffy players.

Pupil Of Local Woman Honored

Miss June Kiloh of Berkeley, pupil of Mrs. June Swift Smith of this city has the honor of being one of the eight chosen from the Alameda district to participate in the Alameda Kent Foundation prize radio audition.

The final tryout for the representatives of the Alameda district will be held Monday night at 10 o'clock over radio station KLX.

Rebel Chinese Armies Retreat
HANKOW, China, Sept. 6 (Saturday) UP—Armies opposing the government forces were reported retreating from the Lungshai, Peiping and Hankow railway fronts today while the government forces were advancing along three routes with the intention of capturing Kaileng, Chengchow and Loyang.

Northern troops, under General Peng Yuh Siang were said to be withdrawing because floods had made operations around Lungshai impossible and the leader of their opponents, General Chiang Kai Shek, was concentrating his men.

Meanwhile military headquarters claimed that 10,000 bandits had been killed in the vicinity of Changsha and the remainder were fleeing to the southeast.

Soil Will Be Heated In Test

DAVIS, Sept. 5.—Heating soil by electricity to force truck crops for early markets is to be tried by the University of California College of Agriculture, in cooperation with the California committee on the relation of electricity to agriculture. Announcement of the experiment is made by J. R. Tavernetti, field agent for the committee, whose offices are in the division of agriculture engineering at the branch of the college of agriculture here.

Cooperating with Tavernetti in the experiment are Dr. H. A. Jones, head of the division of truck crops, and Prof. E. D. Moses of the division of agricultural engineering. It is expected that the division of soil technology also will participate in the experiment to determine what effect, if any, the electricity has on the soil.

Lost "Grandson" Robs Woman
PARIS.—Madame Nanette de Livry doesn't see so well any more. She hadn't beheld her only grandson for five years, when a dashing young lad of fifteen or thereabouts rapped at the door of her solitary abode and rushed into her arms with a cry of "Hello Grandma."

"I'll buy you something nice at the baker's for breakfast," she beamed.

There was complete absence of any apparent motive, Crater, appointed by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt May 1 and a candidate for election to a 14-year term this fall, seems to have no reason for vanishing and every incentive for staying at home.

In connection with the hunt for Crater, police are seeking Fred Johnson, his confidential secretary, who also appears to be missing, although it has been said he is on a vacation.

Students Given New Loan Fund
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 5.—A loan fund of $10,000 has been made available to students of the University of California at Los Angeles, by J. Roy Williams, theater owner, who has recently moved to west Los Angeles from Oxnard. The fund will be administered largely through the office of Accountant Charles Dodds, who has supervision of other loan funds of the university.

In making the fund available, Williams stated that he preferred to loan the money to those students who are partly self-supporting, and the loans will be made under the same rules and conditions that govern other university loan funds. Dodds states that this is one of the larger contributions operating for the purpose of aiding young men and women in their endeavor to secure higher education.
